About NDRC

Main Functions

Leadership

Bureaus and Departments

General Office
Office of Policy Studies
Department of Development Planning
Department of National Economy
Bureau of Economic Operations
Adjustment
Department of Economic System Reform
Department of Fixed Asset Investment
Department of Foreign Capital and
Overseas Investment
Department of Regional Economy
Department of Regional Revitalization
More

Department of Price

Messages:

The main responsibilities of the Department of Price are: to monitor, forecast and give warning of price changes, ar control targets and policy recommendations. Promote the price reforms for important commodities, services, and pro organize and draft the relevant price and charging regulations and policies; organize and set up the prices for a commodities and service managed by the state and formulate the important charging policies, adjust the prices and charg commodities and services managed by the central government; organize cost surveys in key industries, important agric important commodities and services, and undertake cost supervision and review of government pricing items accord regulations.

Pricing work concerns national economy and the people's livelihood. It is connected to both the macro economy households across China. It also concerns the stable economic development, efficient market operation, the improver livelihood and welfare, and social harmony and stability. We adhere to the guidance of Xi Jinping Thought on Socialis Characteristics for a New Era, thoroughly implement the spirit of the 19th CPC National Congress and the 2nd thro Sessions of the 19th CPC Central Committee. We adhere to the people-centered development philosophy, follow the prin progress while ensuring stability, adhere to the new development concept, and closely follow the changes of main cont society. In accordance with the requirements of high-quality development and the construction of a modern economic sy comprehensively deepening the price reforms, accelerating the building of a mechanism where prices are primarily de market, and improve the government's price management system. We will keep improving our price control, supervi capabilities, and strive to open up a new prospect of pricing work in a new era.

Thank you for your attention, care and support. Your valuable suggestions are appreciated.

Function:

Monitor, forecast and give warning of price changes, and propose price control targets and policy recommendations. P reforms for important commodities, services, and production factors. Organize and draft the relevant price and charging policies. Organize and set up the prices for a few important commodities and services managed by the state, and formul charging policies, adjust the prices and charging standards of commodities and services managed by the central gover cost surveys in key industries, important agricultural products, important commodities and services, and undertake cost review of government pricing items according to rules and regulations.

Sponsor: National Development and Reform Commission (NDRC),People´s Republic of China
Technical support: State Information Center (SIC)
Website identifier: bm04000007 Beijing ICP License No.05052393
Beijing Computer Information Network International Internet Unit 11010202000002
Copyright by National Development and Reform Commission (NDRC),People´s Republic of Chi