

About NDRC

Main Functions

Leadership

Bureaus and Departments

- General Office
- Office of Policy Studies
- Department of Development Planning
- Department of National Economy
- Bureau of Economic Operations Adjustment
- Department of Economic System Reform
- Department of Fixed Asset Investment
- Department of Foreign Capital and Overseas Investment
- Department of Regional Economy
- Department of Regional Revitalization
- More

Department of Price

Messages:

The main responsibilities of the Department of Price are: to monitor, forecast and give warning of price changes, and control targets and policy recommendations. Promote the price reforms for important commodities, services, and production factors; organize and draft the relevant price and charging regulations and policies; organize and set up the prices for a few important commodities and services managed by the state and formulate the important charging policies, adjust the prices and charging standards of commodities and services managed by the central government; organize cost surveys in key industries, important agricultural products, important commodities and services, and undertake cost supervision and review of government pricing items according to rules and regulations.

Pricing work concerns national economy and the people's livelihood. It is connected to both the macro economy and the people's livelihood across China. It also concerns the stable economic development, efficient market operation, the improvement of people's livelihood and welfare, and social harmony and stability. We adhere to the guidance of Xi Jinping Thought on Socialism with Chinese Characteristics for a New Era, thoroughly implement the spirit of the 19th CPC National Congress and the 2nd through 3rd Sessions of the 19th CPC Central Committee. We adhere to the people-centered development philosophy, follow the path of reform with Chinese characteristics while ensuring stability, adhere to the new development concept, and closely follow the changes of main contradictions in society. In accordance with the requirements of high-quality development and the construction of a modern economic system, comprehensively deepening the price reforms, accelerating the building of a mechanism where prices are primarily determined by the market, and improve the government's price management system. We will keep improving our price control, supervision and regulation capabilities, and strive to open up a new prospect of pricing work in a new era.

Thank you for your attention, care and support. Your valuable suggestions are appreciated.

Function:

Monitor, forecast and give warning of price changes, and propose price control targets and policy recommendations. Promote the price reforms for important commodities, services, and production factors. Organize and draft the relevant price and charging regulations and policies. Organize and set up the prices for a few important commodities and services managed by the state, and formulate the important charging policies, adjust the prices and charging standards of commodities and services managed by the central government. Organize cost surveys in key industries, important agricultural products, important commodities and services, and undertake cost supervision and review of government pricing items according to rules and regulations.

About NDRC

Main Functions

Leadership

Bureaus and Departments

News

Press Releases

Activities

Media Resources

Policies

Investments & Cooperation

Bringing In

Going Out

Achievements

Contact Us

Q&A

Sponsor: National Development and Reform Commission (NDRC), People's Republic of China

Technical support: State Information Center (SIC)

Website identifier: bm04000007 Beijing ICP License No.05052393

Beijing Computer Information Network International Internet Unit 11010202000002

Copyright by National Development and Reform Commission (NDRC), People's Republic of China