

The employment contract has not been disclosed as it contains personal data, confidential and commercially sensitive information. Its publication would infringe the privacy rights of the employee and could undermine the legitimate confidentiality interests protected under applicable EU and national law, namely under Regulation (EU) 2016/679 (GDPR).